

JOIN US FOR A SPECIAL SCREENING OF

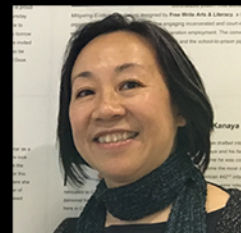

The ORANGE STORY

Riksha Magazine and Banyan, Asian American Writers Collective, in partnership with the Oak Park Public Library, presents a screening of The Orange Story, a short film directed by Erika Street Hopman about one's man journey and the injustice of Japanese American incarceration during World War II.

Please join us after the screening for a discussion about the film and the personal journeys that humanize this tragedy in our nation's history.

A special panel of guests will be present including: Jason Matsumoto, executive producer of The Orange Story, Lourdes Nicholls, whose family was incarcerated in Manzanar, Joe Takehara who stars in the film, and Karen Su, who teaches in the Global Asian Studies Program at the University of Illinois at Chicago.

Saturday, February 24, 2018, 2:30-4:30pm.
